Outlook dim for hospital in SR valley

The San - Am Hospital Group which is trying to get state permission to build a hospital in the Dublin - San Ramon area appears to face two big hurdles in its drive.

One is the lack of support generated so far, the other is the failure to prove any need for the hospital, at least as far as state formulas for need are concerned.

The group has approached people privately in Pleasanton and even had one quasi - public meeting at Castlewood Country Club where the press had some of its questions answered, but so far the the group has not formed the board of directors for the non - profit corporation which would build the hospital. Dr. Marvin Goldman, a Danville gynecologist leading the organizing effort, told The Times he will announce the board of directors early in January after all directors are enlisted.

Goldman said the efforts are going fine in Danville and San Ramon, but slowly in Pleasanton because the Danville doctors in his partnership don't know many people in Pleasanton.

A source close to the group said public recruitment for the corporation and also for public support and endorsements would be further along if the organizing group didn't have to do everything at once.

The group had to work feverishly to beat a deadline which instituted a two year moratorium on new hospital applications. The group beat the deadline, but its application remains incomplete because it has not supplied enough documentation of the need for a hospital along the Interstate 680 corridor and it has not demonstrated any public support for the hospital.

Enlistment of public support will come later when the doctors circulate petitions in their offices from Danville to Pleasanton, said the source close to the hospital.

Even if public support pours out, the San - Am group is up against a state formula for hospital bed need which computes the I - 680 corridor need at 17 beds. Goldman's group feels the need is much greater when one takes into consideration the fast - growing population in the San Ramon Valley and the number of people in the I - 680 or corridor who use hospitals outside the valley.

San - Am sent its application to the Golden Empire Health Systems Agency in Sacramento in September and it spent a month there. Analysis showed the alleged deficiencies in proving need and public support. After a new state law went into effect, the application was shuffled over to the state Department of Health's Office of Planning and Development.

That agency has been swamped with similar referrals since the new law went into effect and the department has not had time to deal with San - Am's application, said Colodia Owens of that department. The state hopes to meet a Jan. 8 deadline in commenting to San - Am about the application.

Confession ruled valid

Murder case defense move is rejected

OAKLAND — Barry Braeseke, the 20-year-old Dublin man charged in the shooting deaths of his father, mother and grandfather in their Dublin home Aug. 23, Friday was denied a motion to suppress his tape recorded confession in superior court.

Superior Court Judge Allan Broussard ruled that the statement, given to an Alameda County sheriff's deputy hours after the bodies were discovered, was valid.

Defense attorney James Crew argued that the statement was given after Braeseke had said he wanted a lawyer. Crew maintained the tatement was agreed by both parties to be off the record.

Braeseke will return to court Dec. 20, when a motion by Crew to dismiss the case will be heard.

His co-defendent, David Barker, 16, of San Ramon, goes to superior court Jan 7 at 9 a.m. on a motion to dismiss charges based on illegal search and seizure.

City fire captain seeks hearing cost from Pleasanton

PLEASANTON — Fire Department Captain George Withers, who won back that rank by a 4 - 2 verdict of a city employe personnel committee, is asking the city to pay the costs of the hearing.

The total bill for his lawyer, a court reporter and one subpoened witness comes to $3,713. City Manager Bill Edgar, on advice from City Attorney Ken Scheidig, turned down the claim for the expenses. Withers said he won't take Edgar's "no" for an answer. He plans to appeal to the city council for reimbursement of the expenses. Edgar's letter claimed that payment of the funds to Withers would amount to a gift of city funds, but Withers' attorney, Alan Davis, said that the city council can pay the money if it wishes.

"I think I'm the victim of political rape and I plan to holler 'rape'," said Withers.

Withers said he realizes that the city has no legal obligation to pay costs of his hearing, but he thinks the city has a moral duty to pay the bill.

Withers had been demoted to lieutenant on the recommendation of Director of Public Safety Walt McCloud and City Manager Bill Edgar for allegedly poor job performance and for being the ranking officer at the accidental burn of historic Fallon House where he supposedly should have ordered the fire doused.

The city's personnel board, after a hearing covering several days of testimony, said the city administration did not present sufficient evidence to prove its case. Withers was reinstated to capatain's rank with full back pay.

Dublin, Pleasanton set pace

Retail sales booming

Retail commerce is enjoying record - busting volumes throughout this Valley in 1976, and that trend gives every indication of holding up through the Christmas shopping period.

State Board of Equalization third quarter report shows Livermore and Pleasanton both well out front of their 1975 pace in retail sales. That report indicates Livermore will be some $10 million ahead in taxale transactions this year over the 1975 total.

Pleasanton's sales' boom is even more startling.

From a modest $42.9 million in taxable sales last year, Pleasanton has already recorded $39.2 million through three quarters of this year, and gives every indication of topping the $55 million mark for all of 1976.

Even that total pales in comparison with Dublin's retail activity. Pegged at just over $100 million last fiscal year, Dublin can be expected to go over the $110 million mark in 1976.

When Dublin and Pleasanton are added as one Amador Valley market area, that means Livermore's traditional dominance of the basin's sales' activity has now ended. Livermore will top $90 million in taxable sales this year, well short of the $165 million that Pleasanton and Dublin combined should reach.

The third quarter 1976 total credited Livermore with $23.2 million, compared with $21.6 million in that 1975 period. Pleasanton recorded $14.3 million and $11.8 million in those same two quarters.

Sales tax revenues are an important source of income to city governments, which are given very close to one - sixth of the total six percent sales tax revenue, excluding that additional levy for BART in three Bay Area counties.

Incorporated areas such as Dublin do not enjoy that direct income, but the " $1.1 million in sales tax revenue generated by Dublin last year is being used by those who contend that a "City of Dublin" might indeed be able to support itself. A new study toward that end is now underway.

Council eyes new zoning

PLEASANTON — The city council will consider rezoning 120 acres west of Foothill Road near Bernal Avenue from single family 40,000 foot lot size to the Hillside Planned Development District tomorrow.

Also on tap for the meeting at 8 p.m. in the Council Chambers at 30 W. Angela St. is W.S. Bottini's application for office or central commercial zoning on an 8,450 square foot lot at 4224 Stanley Blvd., a possible rezoning of multiple lands north of Vineyard Avenue from First Street to the city limits, and possibly placing four areas in a study district. The areas are 18 acres near Foothill Road and Bernal Avenue, 66 acres next to Sports and Recreation Park, 16 acres near Kottinger Park west of Pico Avenue, and some land bounded by Rose Avenue, Fair Street, Division Street and Pleasanton Avenue.

Law suit threatened in Amador by teachers

Amador school district teacher unit leaders have made a five - point list of demands to the school board of the Amador Valley Joint High School District, demands they say that if not met will result in a law suit.

The five relate to actions taken by the school board July 19, letters of reprimand placed in files of district teachers as well as return of all allegedly "doctored" evaluations— "and all other such items— to teachers concerned with an apology from the school district ."

Amador Valley Secondary Educators Association (AVSEA) President Dave Woolworth said the five demands were to be sent to all trustees in telegrams Friday night.

In addition, Woolworth said, the AVSEA representative council is now asking 7 per cent interest on all back monies due teachers. Vote on this request, plus authorization to pursue legal action on the five points was unanimous, according to John S. Muir, California Teachers Assc. rep.

Woolworth and Muir were questioned as to the reasoning in bringing out a stack of minutes from board meetings dating back to January, and describing alleged errors and omissions.

"There are files being kept here at the district office that are not in order," Muir charged. Questioning then turned to who the six or seven teachers are who allegedly had signatures on 1973 evaluation forms falsified or doctored. Woolworth said they were waiting for a district response on the alleged falsifications issue before taking further action.

Asked Carl Krause's (Assistant superintendent for personnel) part in the matter of the forms and signatures, Woolworth retorted "I would say he was lying outright" (in regards whether all six or seven teachers were properly notified). "I would too," Muir added.

Muir later contended that there were second sets of files on district teachers at district schools. "Instead of their being just one at the central district office, there's also a second at all schools."

A reporter volunteered to ask Krause, who was in a neighboring office at the time of the meeting, if he would come into the room and respond to the charges but relayed the information it would not be appropriate.

The five points that Woolworth and Muir say they want the board to address at Tuesday night's meeting are:

1) Action of the governing board on July 19 to deny teachers salary movement across salary classes for obtaining additional study units.

2) Action to deny teachers annual increment for years of service, which also occurred at the July 19 meeting.

3) Denial of additional money for chairmen of departments (for their additional responsibilities).

4) Removal of letters of reprimand for minimum day— which were placed in teacher files without prior notification.

5) Request all "doctored" evaluations and all other such items returned to the respective teachers with an apology from the school district.

Woolworth said he would request time on Tuesday's agenda to address the board on the demands and other issues related to mediation.

Earlier in the day Friday, teachers received letters on district stationery from Wally Decker, school board president, presenting the board's position on salary and other key negotiation items.

VALLEY NEWS BRIEFS

SRV chamber leaders

New officers and directors of the San Ramon Valley Chamber of Commerce were recently installed and awards presented at a banquet. See story, page 2.

LAVWMA dilemma

Members of the Livermore-Amador Valley Water Management Agency are in a dilemma concerning the spiraling cost estimates for construction of a waste water disposal pipeline. For details, see page 2.

Park district bitter

Officials of Livermore Area Recreation and Park District view sections of the county's general plan amendment as a move to abolish LARPD.

The plan would provide city management of all parks and recreation facilities in their geographic jurisdiction, and would allot all urban, unicorporated areas of the present LARPD district to the East Bay Regional Park District.

Although it would take an election of people here to change all that, LARPD officials are preparing recommendations to change that section of the plan amendment.

Police, fire talks

City officials are in their second week of labor negotiations with police and fire employes.

Details of contracts for the coming year are being hammered out in closed session, but union officials indicate no stumbling blocks have developed.

The police, represented by Operating Engineers Local Three, have met twice with city officials and are scheduled for another meeting Wednesday.

Top pay for a police patrolman is $1,339, representing a $55 monthly increase over the previous contract.

"We are among the lowest paid policemen in Alameda County," noted police union president Bob Tette, "and we have one of the highest costs of living."

Top pay for a fireman is $1,370 a month, an increase of $40 over the last increment prior to last July.

"So far we are making headway," noted negotiator Al Wisuri, who indicated his group has a third meeting with city officials Thursday.

The firemen's contract ends Dec. 31. Police end theirs Jan. 1.

Pending legislation

There will be a bill in the legislature for property tax cuts this term. But it won't come in time to affect next year's taxes.

There will be a measure limiting local government spending.

The state will take over some programs handled by the city, and payed for by the cities.

If there is no legislative assistance for tax relief, a number of citizen groups will push for a constitutional amendment initiative.

These were some of the key points coming out of a Tax Reform convention in Sacramento last week, attended by state lawmakers.

For details, see page 6.

Dial-a-ride a success

Livermore Recreation and Park District officials have declared the dial-a-ride program for senior citizens without transportation a success. However, they are concerned about operating costs.

Santa's service

Santa is ready for the calls he expects from kiddies in the Livermore area. Special phones have been installed in the offices of Livermore Area Recreation and Park District to direct the calls to the North Pole. Santa's helpers will be members of the local Jaycees. The one pictured is Tom Loggins, being assisted in preparations by LARPD's Dorothy Svets. Santa's number is 455-9860 and he can be reached 5:30-7 p.m. Monday through Friday this week and Monday through Wednesday Dec. 20-22.

LAVWMA searches for answer

Sewer woes prompt study

Faced with a possible sewage hookup ban in Livermore and the Valley Community Services District, Valley officials Thursday night began scrambling to meet deadlines that would ease the restriction.

The Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agency Board directed financial consultants Stone and Youngberg to again study costs of five basic alternatives designed to clean up the sewage problem.

LAVWMA directors also requested consultants to determine local costs for a pay as you go system, which would bypass the need for a bond revenue election.

Directors took action only hours after a three-menmber hearing panel of the Regional Water Quality Control Board recommended that a cease and desist order against Livermore and VCSD be implemented.

The full board will consider approval of the sewer hookup ban at its Dec. 21 meeting in Oakland.

After engineers told the LAVWMA board that cost estimates for the proposed wastewater disposal pipeline had been revised upward 62 per cent, the board decided it would review the five basic project alternative plans to determine which is the best project at the price.

Only the most cost - effective project will receive federal and state grant funding. Those monies will pay 87.5 per cent of the project's costs.

Stone and Youngberg will also review costs for pay as you go financing. These costs would be substantially higher than a bond revenue election, but would last only for the duration of the construction. Bonds would be paid off in 15 or 20 years.

RWQCB engineers worked up preliminary cost estimates for both financing methods:

- If revenue bonds are issued, monthly sewer service bills would jump approximately $3.50. Livermore residents would pay about $8.35; Pleasanton, $9.17; and VCSD, $9.23.
- Pay as you go financing would increase sewpr service bills by about $8 monthly. Livermore residents would pay $12.73; Pleasanton, $13.40; and VCSD, $13.54.

The three-member RWQCB hearing panel saw three major alternatives existing for local share financing. LAVWMA could resumit the revenue bond issue to voters either March 8 or May 31 (it was defeated Nov. 2); issue revenue bonds without a vote of the people, if an amendment to the joint powers agreement is agreed upon; or pay as you go, without another ballot.

LAVWMA has until Jan. 15 to determine which of the five basic alternative project concepts is the most cost-effective.

If imposed Dec. 21, the sewer hookup ban could be partially lifted when design has started and financing assured on a viable project.

LAVWMA will hold a special meeting Wednesday at 5 p.m. in Pleasnanton City Council Chambers to hire a new engineering firm. Project manager Dan Murphy interviewed four prospective replacements Friday and will recommended one to be lead agency.

After the new firm has had a chance to review background material and examine new alternatives, LAVWMA will hold a meeting Dec. 30 to reach agreement on basic design concepts.

The city councils of Livermore and Pleasanton and the VCSD board will be invited to attend, so each entity can caucus and arrive at quick decisions on crucial issues.

A meeting place will be announced later.

SRV chamber seats leaders

DANVILLE — New officers representing the San Ramon Valley Chamber of Commerce were installed and awards to citizens were presented during the chamber's annual banquet held Thursday night.

Al Huovinen, Danville attorney, replaced Nick Kelly as president.

Four vice - presidents were installed. They were, Doris Dorrs, Juanita Burrow, Bill Ketsdever and John May.

Frank Pult, Diablo State Bank vice - president, will be continuing his second term as chamber treasurer.

Secretary June Verhagen will be entering her third term.

Larry Brown, Gerry Clifford, Jim Graham, Charlotte Rew, Dick Smith and Norma Taylor were installed as new directors.

Alternate directors are Art Dougherty, Laird Fletcher and Trudi Wardwell.

Continuing directors with two years to serve are Harriet Barry, Dr. Allen Faber, Ken Samuels, Dave Stegman and Don Walls.

The End of Month Chairman is Dr. Henry Kitajima. He was presented with a special award for handling all end of the month details efficiently during 1976.

Marcia Prose received a special award for her art work. She prepared some for this year's flower show and old fashioned holiday event. They were held in Danville by the chamber for the benefit of local retailers.

Harriet Barry, (Mrs. Santa Claus), won a special award for her year round help in chamber program events.

Mrs. Lea Adza of the Elegant Bib restaurant in Alamo, presented Bill Hawkins with a special award for being Santa Claus. He has played this role for several years during the Elegant Bib's annual Christmas luncheon given for Lynn School children.

Valley Pioneer's Citizen of the Year award went to Dr. Joe Hirsch, for his civic contributions during the last few years.

Assemblyman Dan Boatwright of the 10th district emceed the affair and acted as installing officer.

Pipeline costs may rise higher

Cost overruns on the proposed wastewater disposal pipeline, previously estimated as 62 per cent higher than the project's basic cost, may reach 97 per cent, according to testimony taken at Thursday's hearing.

John Carollo Engineering Co. was fired last week after announcing that the pipeline's estimated cost had risen as much as 62 per cent, from $28 million to $44 million.

Engineers at that time said the latest estimates could increase another 15 per cent due to unforeseen circumstances.

At Thursday's public hearing on the sewer hookup ban, financial consultant Ernest Bodnar said he added a 20 per cent cushion to Carollo's estimates to be on the safe side.

So if costs do rise another 15 per cent as allowed for, the pipeline's total cost will have jumped 97 per cent over estimates made in early summer.

LARPD votes ballot funds on printing

LIVERMORE — An unexpected boost in ballot printing costs will not be passed on the candidates who paid to have their qualifications listed in the directors' race for Livermore Area Recreation and Park District.

LARPD Directors this week received word that estimates for printing the qualifications submitted by candidates Marlin Pound, Ernie Rodrigues and Lee Lambert were too low.

Each of the three men were assessed $85 and a total of $255 was collected. A spanish translation was to be paid for by the district.

Now it seems the county has sent LARPD a bill for $781.62 to cover the printing costs, including $335.48 for the translation and $446.14 for the qualification statements.

The $191.14 additional amount would have been distributed in assessments of $63.71 to each of the three men, but directors voted 3-0 to absorb the extra cost, rather than charge candidates more than they were told they would have to pay.

Rodrigues and Pound abstained from the voting.

The Valley Volunteer Bureau received notification Friday it will receive a $5,000 grant from the Alexander Gerbode Foundation of San Francisco to initiate a Youth Volunteer Bureau program.

Valley Volunteer Bureau had made application for the grant early last month. Board members, executive director Betty Stallings and Barbara Hempill, grant writer, mad the in - person funding appeal to the Gerbode Foundation last month.

LARPD bitter on county plans

LIVERMORE — Officials of the Livermore Area Recreation and Park District bit into a draft copy of the county general plan amendment this week and reacted as if it were a sour lemon.

LARPD General Manager Bill Payne saw sections of the document which seem to call for abolishment of his district and the parks and recreation facilities turned over to city of Livermore and East Bay Regional Park District.

"We hadn't expressed too much concern earlier," noted Payne, who told The TIMES the county had sent sections of the document to LARPD piecemeal — many containing errors about the district's facilities.

Some facilities were deleted and sizes of some were erroneous, he said.

The "Public Services" section of the draft amendment which would affect this valley contained a section on parks and recreation that upset LARPD officials.

Noting that LARPD has current responsibility for the area, the plan amendment calls for park dedication and improvement and operation of facilities within the city to be "accomplished in accordance with city ordinances and standards."

It also says parks serving the urban, unicorporated areas "would be in accordance with county ordinances and standards."

"We object to that," said Payne, "because we have been operating since 1947 and feel we are doing an adequate job without receiving major complaints from residents of the district."

"We see no need for a drastic change," said Payne.

When LARPD was formed in 1947 it was a "dependent district," under the jurisdiction of the county supervisors.

A 1958 election resulted in independent status for the district, with locally elected directors on the board and power to collect taxes for park and recreation purposes.

One local resident, Jack Stear, called The Times to support dissolution of LARPD. He said the result would be lower taxes, with city and county operating the parks and recreation programs.

Stear objected to LARPD "managing city parks for the city and purchasing open space in the country for the people in the city."

Pleasanton seeks citizen advisors

— The city planning department is inviting letters of application from local residents and developers for four citizen seats and one developer's position on the growth management plan citizens committee which will be formed soon.

The committee will make recommendations to the planning commission and city council about the form and content of the growth management program. The group will work with the staff to put the plan together and the city council will make the final decision on the ultimate program. The committee probably will begin work in January and set June 30th as a deadline for presenting the plan to the council.

It's possible the committee would remain in existence afterward to help with aspects of the plan, but that is not known because the decision would be up to the city council.

People interested in applying for seats on the committee should send a letter declaring interest and background to the planning department at city hall, 200 Bernal Ave.

Besides the five panelists mentioned above, the committee also will have two council members, one planning commissioner, one park and recreation commissioner, one human resources commissioner and one housing authority commissioner.

SRV school tests

Students score well

San Ramon Valley Unified School District second, third, sixth, and twelfth grade students of last year were at the top or above the state percentile rankings in four subject areas, as compiled by the California Assessment Program.

State tests given last year (to all public school districts in the grades noted above) included second grade reading, third grade reading, sixth grade and twelfth grade reading, written expression, spelling, and mathematics.

Dr. James Solberg, an assistant superintendent for the San Ramon district and in charge of testing, will review the results of state testing at Monday night's board meeting scheduled for the Education Center, 699 Old Orchard Dr., Danville.

However, a by-school breakdown of test results will go directly to the individual schools. Residents interested in those results will have to contact the individual school principal.

In addition to comparing average student achievement in the district to the average achievements in all other districts in the state, the assessment program uses a statistical procedure through which various district background factors (largely socioeconomic) are analyzed. The product of the statistical procedure is a comparison score band, which indicates how other districts with similar background characteristics are scoring.

San Ramon district students had a state percentile rank above the comparison band in second grade reading (93rd percentile ranking, comparison score band of 83-91); grade six reading (88th percentile ranking, comparison score band of 77-87); written expression (89, 77-87); mathematics (88, 73-86).

Other state percentile rankings achieved were as follows:

Grade three reading (86, comparison score band of 83-91); grade six spelling (82, 75-84); grade 12 reading (97, 90-97); written expression (96, 90-96); spelling (90, 81-94), and mathematics (95, 91-95).

To better illustrate the performance of San Ramon district students on test results, the state notes the second and third grade reading test scores.

The average second grader in the San Ramon district answered 83.5 per cent of the questions correctly. By comparison, the average second grader in a typical California district answered 69.1 per cent of the questions correctly.

In grade two, the district score is above the scores of 93 per cent of the districts in California.

Background factors used in determining the comparison score band (for reading tests) include entr level test performance, socioeconomic factors, per cent bilingual, per cent AFDC and pupil mobility.

Additional background factors for computing the comparison score band include, at all grade levels, per cent of minority pupils in the district, average class size, average daily attendance, assessed valuation per unit of ADA, general purpose tax rate, and expenditures per unit of ADA.

The state percentile rankings for grade 12 put San Ramon students of 1975-76 almost at the top of all twelfth graders tested in Contra Costa and Alameda counties.

San Ramon second, third and sixth graders are also near the top of their peers tested in the two counties.

The report also shows reading test sores by skill areas (such as word identification, vocabulary, comprehension, and study-locational).

Jerry Lewis says thanks to VCSD

DUBLIN — Brian May, senior recreation director for Valley Community Services District (VCSD), has accepted an award on behalf of Shannon Park Community Center from Jerry Lewis, national chairman for Muscular Dystrophy Association, Inc.

May received the award last Tuesday night from the VCSD board of directors. It had been sent to them from Lewis's staff.

The message on the plaque read: "With gratitude for your participation in the worldwide battle against muscular dystrophy and related neuromuscular diseases. Your generous support brings hope and comfort to thousands of afflicted people."

City proclaims brides' week

PLEASANTON — Hold onto your veils, it's Pleasanton Brides Week next month from Jan. 9 to the 15th, Mayor Robert Philcox has declared. He said in his proclamation that it conforms with the "Spring Bridal Forum".

The following week will be Jaycee Week in Pleasanton.

VCSD swim meeting set

DUBLIN — The Valley Community Services District recreation swimming class will be meeting today from 1 to 4 p.m., weather permitting.

Pleasanton gymnasts

These four Pleasanton School gymnasts participated in an optional meet Saturday in San Rafael. To qualify for this regional gymnastics meet, they competed in three qualifying meets— the last being the Bay Area Junior High School Meet on Nov. 12 in which 120 girls competed. The four are, from left, Kelly Crow, Lynette Frost, Julie Campbell, and Debbie Zehnder. Their coach is Esther Crow. Lynette placed second in balance beam and fourth in floor exercise, Debbie second in vault, Julie scored 50 per cent in all-around, and Kelly first in all-around, second in balance beam and vault, second in floor exercise and third on parallel bars in the beginner division. The other three were entered in the novice division.

Luxurious new ferry

LARKSPUR (AP) — Bands played, politicians made speeches, and clowns wandered through the crowd handing out balloons and buttons. Then, promptly at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, the G.T. Marin carried its first load of paying customers across the San Francisco Bay.

The G.T. stands for "gas turbine," and officials of the Golden Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District say its maiden voyage heralds a new era of ferry service connecting Marin County to San Francisco.

The Marin will be joined later this month by a second jet ferry, the Sonoma. Each can carry 750 passengers at a normal speed of 25 knots — about 30 miles per hour.

The Marin's three huge engines each can deliver 15,000 pounds of thrust, equivalent to the thrust created a 727 jet airliner engine.

Two of the three passenger decks are equipped with snack bar and cocktail sections. The top deck is covered in part with tinted glass.

Bridge district officials estimate that when the Sonoma joins the Marin and another ferry that runs between San Francisco and Sausalito, the three boats will carry 3,200 commuters daily, reducing traffic on the Golden Gate Bridge by as many as 2,500 cars.

The Marin departs for San Francisco on its first weekday commuter voyage Monday at 7:10 a.m. One-way fare is $1, which includes feeder bus rides.

Seniors' dial-a-ride success but Livermore ponders cost

LIVERMORE —The senior citizen dial - a - ride transportation program has received healthy responses, according to park and recreation officials who are not sure where operating money will come from after June.

Deanna Manning, recreation superintendent for Livermore Area Recreation and Park District, told LARPD directors this week "there is enough funding available to conduct the program through June."

The district has a contract with Livermore to provide federal revenue sharing funds channeled through the county to city to LARPD for the service.

"The intent of staff was to contract directly with the county effective Jan 1," said Manning. "However, it may be necessary to continue contracting with the city on a month to month basis as long as the federal money is available."

She noted the county will be reviewing its revenue sharing expenditures in March and April and "it is not yet clear how this review may affect the dial - a - ride program, if at all."

"The operation is running quite smoothly and extremely well received," said Manning.

During the first week of operation 47 individuals registered with the new transportation service, with 120 rides recorded.

The service began when the Tri Valley Cab Co. closed operations Nov. 30, ending a subsidized taxi service for senior citizens. The new service is provided free for any person in the LARPD service area at least 60 years old.

LARPD General Manager Bill Payne noted that after June, if the city received no funds from the county, the district could be forced to terminate the service if no other financing means were available.

LARPD Director Lois Ellsaesser worried that a forced termination might make the district look like "the bad guys if funds don't come through.

Don't bust your buns

Now that skateboards are an accepted mode of transportation in the Valley, state health director Jerome Lackner, M.D., offers some skateboard safety tips.

He says, "Skateboards have experienced a real upswing in popularity and unfortunately they now account for many injuries to riders and pedestrians each year. Most of these accidents can be traced to not knowing how to ride a skateboard or using a poorly constructed board."

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission estimates skateboards will account for 11,000 injuries nationwide which will require hospital emergency room treatment in 1977.

"Before you purchase a skateboard, talk to a reputable dealer about the quality of the board. It's also wise to buy protective equipment such as elbow pads, knee pads and a helmet.

"If your child balks at this idea, tell him professionals wouldn't be caught on a board without some padding to protect them from a fall."

Some rules offered by Lackner:

Don't ride on crowded sidewalks; look for empty parking lots or similar locations where there is no moving traffic. Check out your board for loose wheels which could suddenly come off. don't skateboard at night.

Other rules: Obey all city and state traffic laws. Don't ride faster than your ability. Try to anticipate problems.

Retiring? CC employe is honored

By NILDA REGO
Lesher News Bureau

MARTINEZ--The county's Civil Service Department thinks Gertrude Hall is too old. She doesn't. Hall, resplendent with an enormous white orchid pinned on her blouse, announced she has but one more week to work for the county. She is 65.

The orchid was presented to her along with a stack of framed, gold-sealed resolutions from the state Senate, state Assembly, Congressman George Miller and the Retired Volunteers of Senior Persons.

The Retired Volunteers of Senior Persons held a special thing for Hall, who has directed the county's Area Agency on Aging since its inception.

State Sen. John Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, came in person to honor Hall at the Richmond thank-you party.

But no one came through with the one thing Hall wanted the most, a job.

"I'm going to have to work, you know. I don't have much retirement, only six and a half years in this last job. I've been looking," she said.

"I applied in Berkeley for a job working with old people. The man they hired was 30, had half my experience and half my education," Hall said.

"I even applied for a job with the Agency on Aging in Washington, D.C., not that I wanted to move to Washington. I worked in New York, wouldn't want to work on the East Coast again. But I wanted to try," she said.

"I sent very good references from excellent people. They didn't bother to call anybody up. Just looked at my age on the application, 65. I know that," she insisted.

Janet Levy the state director of the Agency on Aging, wrote two very strong letters to county Welfare Director Robert Jornlin asking that he intervene in Hall's case with the civil service.

"It's ridiculous," said Hall, who has spent most of her adult life since she graduated from the University of Minnesota working in the field of gerontology.

"In recent years, I've spent $6,000 and taken two dozen courses in the field," she added pointing out that her Master of Social Work degree from the University of Southern California was also based on work with older people.

Hall said that in response to Levy's letter, Jornlin answered, "we have rules in this county."

"I even wrote a note to Arthur Fleming, who got a waiver to keep heading the national Agency on Aging at 72 from Nixon, to see if he could help me keep my job. Never answered," said Hall.

Hall said that when she retires she is going to do volunteer work with the Area Agency Council on Aging on its county-wide legislative review committee.

So, what's new?

Five babies were board to Valley couples recently at Eden Hospital, Castro Valley.

Arrivals included a boy born Nov. 26 to Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses Early III, 229 Kottinger Drive, Pleasanton.

Mr. and Mrs. William Enos of 4436 Mohr St., Pleasanton, had a girl Dec. 1.

Dec. 5 brought a boy to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bigelow of 7824 Peppertree Road, Dublin; and girls to Mr. and Mrs. Jean Shobe, 2323 Santa Rita Road, Pleasanton, and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Farias of 7751 Starward Drive, Dublin.

Child-birth and husbands

PLEASANTON — Classes in the Bradley Method of husband - coached childbirth will be held beginning 7:30 p.m. Jan. 3 at Amador Recreation Center, 4455 Black Ave.

There will be a free information night open to the public at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the recreation center.

Class size is limited to insure personal attention. Plan to pre - register. It is suggested people begin classes at the end of the sixth month or in the seventh month of pregnancy. The Department of Human Resources encourages people to attend even if it is early in pregnancy or still planning. For information, call Jean Marinko, 462-1771.

Openings on county board

Be a mental health advisor

Are you satisfied with the mental health clinics and If not, now's the time to get on the Alameda County Mental Health Advisory Board.

By state law, the county board is being increased from 14 to 17 members, including eight professionals and nine representatives of the public interest.

At least five of the public health members must be using some sort of counseling or mental health treatment service or be a relative of someone who is.

The board is having trouble filling the "consumer" spots, so here's a good opening for anyone who may somehow qualify.

They are also looking for five professionals: physicians, social workers, teachers, marriage and family counselors, paychiatric technicians, policemen or hospital administrators.

Members must be willing to attend monthly MHAB meetings on the third Wednesday of every month, 12:30 - 2 p.m. at Highland Hospital, Oakland. They must also be willing to serve on one or more committees which include public interest, nominating, criminal justice, budget and fiscal, legislation, child advocates, or advocates for older people.

Anyone interested in applying must, before the Dec. 31 deadline, send a resume and "a thoughtful, personal statement" about why you are interested in serving on the board, to: Rokki Filaseta, Executive Assistant, MHAB, 499 Fifth St., Room 405, Oakland, CA 94607. The phone is 874 - 5191.

The new board members will be selected in January.

Wine and cheese dress up holiday style

EDITOR'S NOTE: Those traditional complements — wine and cheese — dress up as holiday punches and hors d'oeuvres for intimate family tree-trimmings or that Christmas cocktail party. The local producers of top-rate wines and cheeses have submitted their favorite family recipes in the hope that they'll make your holiday celebrations a little brighter.

— Jean McKenna

From the Factory

These snappy cheese recipes come from the files of Joan Miller, an employe of the popular Cheese Factory in Pleasanton for 14 years, now manager of retail sales. "I can't tell you where they've come from," she explains. Her sources are as varied as the hundreds of customers she has served, many of whom have shared a prized canape or hors d'oeuvre recipe with Joan. Put the spreads on crackers and garnish imaginatively.

SPREAD NO. 1, CHEDDAR
- ¾ cup cheddar cheese
- 5 tablespoons deviled ham
- ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 4 tablespoons heavy cream

SPREAD NO. 2, KASSERI
- 1 cup Kasseri cheese, grated
- 4 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle
- Dash pepper
- Mayonnaise to blend mixture

SPREAD NO. 3, PIMIENTO
- 4 ounces Teleme cheese
- ½ cup minced pimientos
- ½ cup minced nut meats
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 6 tablespoons mayonnaise

SPREAD NO. 4, BLEU CHEESE
- 4 ounces Teleme cheese
- ¼ cup Bleu Cheese
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- Dash garlic powder
- 4 tablespoons heavy cream

CHEESE CARROTS
- 8 ounces cream cheese
- 1 cup grated carrot
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Dash cayenne
- ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 2 tablespoons chopped chives or onions
- Parsley sprigs

Mix cream cheese and carrot, add salt, cayenne, Worcestershire and chives. Roll into miniature carrot shapes and chill until firm. Stick a tiny sprig of parsley into each "carrot" to resemble tops. Make about 20.

SHERRIED CHEESE DROPS
- 2 cups sifted flour
- ½ cup softened butter
- 1 cup grated sharp Cheddar
- ½ cup sherry
- ½ teaspoon each salt, onion salt, garlic salt
- ¼ teaspoon paprika
- ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Combine all ingredients and mix until well-blended. Pinch into small pieces of dough and shape into balls about marble-size. Place on ungreased baking sheet and flatten slightly with spatula. Bake in 450° oven for 10 minutes and serve warm.

A Wente favorite

The art of the vintner is a century-old tradition with the Wente Bros. Winery which has produced the white wines for which the Livermore Valley is famous. Another family tradition for the Wentes, using a white wine, is the Christmas Wine Punch submitted by Mrs. Karl Wente who claims it to be her favorite variation of "syllabub" taken from The American Heritage Cookbook.

Syllabub is a traditional Christmas drink similar to eggnog. The name is derived from wine that came from Sillery in the Champagne region of France, and from "bub" an Elizabethan slang word for bubbling drink. It is the festive punch that the Wentes serve when decorating the Christmas tree, so mild that the children are allowed to fill their cups, too.

CHRISTMAS WINE PUNCH
- 2 cups Wente Bros. Pinot Blanc
- 5 tablespoons grated lemon peel
- ⅓ cup lemon juice
- 1½ cups sugar
- 3 cups milk
- 2 cups light cream
- 4 egg whites
- Nutmeg

Combine wine, lemon rind and juice. Stir in one cup of the sugar and let stand until sugar dissolves. Combine milk and cream, add wine mixture and beat with rotary beater until frothy. Beat egg whites until stiff, add remaining one-half cup sugar a little at a time, beating constantly until egg whites stand in peaks. Pour wine mixture into punch bowl, top with puffs of egg white and sprinkle whites with nutmeg. Makes about 15 punch cups.

WENTE BROS. WINERY

Concannon concoction

The Concannon Vineyard was founded in 1883 by James Concannon, an Irish immigrant who recognized the climate and rocky soils of the Livermore Valley as ideal for wine production. A remarkable product of valley conditions is Petite Sirah, introduced as a dry, red varietal wine by Concannon.

The origin of the word "mull" is uncertain, but we do know it means to heat, sweeten and spice. That's what is done with this punch which is a perfect answer to a frosty evening.

MULLED PUNCH
- 2 cups Concannon Petite Sirah
- 1 pint bottle cranberry juice
- 1 can (1 pint, 2 ounces) pineapple juice
- ⅓ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- ¼ teaspoon each cinnamon, cloves, ginger
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- Butter or margarine

Combine all ingredients except butter, and heat slowly to simmering, stirring occasionally. Ladle into mugs or heat-proof glasses, dotting each serving with a bit of butter. Serves 12.

ABOUT THE ARTIST ... The sketches on this page were penned by Shirley Marie Rice and appear in two collections of note cards featuring landmarks in Pleasanton, Dublin, Sunol and Livermore. A dozen note cards, each with a different local scene are available exclusively at Warren Wade Art, Etc. in Pleasanton for $1.50.

THE VILLA ARMANDO WINERY

Della Villa

The Scotto family has been making wine for three generations, from vineyards in Naples, Italy, to the Villa Armando acres. That proud heritage is evident both in the quality of Villa Armando's own Vino Rustico, and in the zest with which the family celebrates the Christmas season.

Mrs. Anthony Scotto offers these simple holiday refreshments — one light, one hearty. If you don't have a punch bowl, create a container for quantities of cold beverage from a salad bowl, set in a wreath of greens.

SEASON SPARKLER
- 2 large cans pineapple cubes, frozen
- 1 gallon chilled Villa Armando Chablis
- 3 bottles of inexpensive champagne, chilled

Place frozen pineapple cubes in punch bowl and pour chilled Chablis over them. Just before serving, add champagne. Serves 50.

FRUIT BOWL PUNCH
- 1 gallon Vino Rustico (hearty red wine), chilled
- 1 can apricot nectar
- 1 can pear nectar
- 1 can pineapple juice
- 2 packages frozen strawberries

Combine liquid ingredients, and add thawed strawberries. Serves 25.

Exchange Club toy drive starts

The Amador-Livermore Valley Exchange Club is conducting its annual Christmas toy drive throughout the valley.

More than 50 banks and savings and loan associations and other institutions in the are are cooperating with a group of Exchange Club members to make a Christmas a little more meaningful for orphaned, homeless or otherwise underprivileged children.

Among those actively involved in the drive are Dick Breitwiser, Dublin attorney; Tom Hardy, district director of Boy Scouts of America; Tom Read, Riera's Music of Pleasanton; Charles Brydon, Chabot College Valley Campus. Brightly-decorated red and white boxes are located in the banks and savings and loans so that members of the community can make a contribution.

Joy Milliken and Carol Lopez of the Children's Emergency Council (CEC) in Dublin, San Ramon, and Leslie Serkland of the Emergency Fund Council of the Livermore-Amador Valley (EFC) will be distributing all donations to children in need.

Breitwiser, Exchange Club chairman of the event, suggests that persons donate new or nearly-new unwrapped toys. Volunteers from the Children's Emergency Council and the Emergency Fund Council will gift wrap all items.

Collections will be made up to and including Christmas Eve. For additional inforation please call Breitwiser at 829-1281.

Chamber leadership

Newly elected officers who will be representing the Dublin Chamber of Commerce as of Jan. 19 are (l to r) Ron Pacheco, treasurer; Sharon Driver, secretary; Todd Lee, president; Dave Burton, vice-president.

Tax reform

Somebody gets stung

By PAT KEEBLE
LNB
Lesher News Bureau

Never have s many lawmakers been so earnest about finding answers to the property tax problem.

Up in Sacramnto, they all agree they have to do something this yr, or have it done for them by "the people," in ways hat may not be fair to all parties concerned.

But it seems ther are no simple answers, meaning answers that won't urt someone more than it's hurting now.

In fact, the popula definition of tax reform is that it means "cutting my taxes and raising your's."

'all the proposals a last week's Capital convention sponsored by the Cali rnia Tax Reform Association were met with reasons why they should not be enacted because of who else ey would hurt.

All speakers agree the homeowner must be helped, but all pointed o areas where everyone, including the homeowner, ight be hurt by the proposals now being discussed.

These factors seemed u permost;

--There will be a bill cu ng property taxes, but it won't come in time to aff t next year's taxes and will require a popular vote n an amendment to the constitution.

--There will be a companio measure putting some kind of a limit on local gover ent spending, similar to that now imposed on schoo istricts.

--The state will take over so e of the programs it has mandated on the cities an counties but not provided funding for.

--There will be no massive s fts from one tax to another. Homeowner will still h e to pay taxes; taxes will hopefully be cut down to more reasonable level.

News view

--If the legislature does not ac decisively, there are a number of groups waiting circulate initiatives which would amend the sta constitution to lower property tax and probably ut government spending to what many consider be a punitive degree.

How to make the necessary chang without upsetting the balance too much, and p sibly causing "discomoding" shifts that would lea to such effects as business and industrial stagnation ill be the basis of the arguments.

These points were made by the vario speakers at the convention:

--Because of rampant inflation on he e prices as opposed to other properties, homeown s now pay about 40 per cent of all property taxes, a pposed to 35 per cent three years ago, and thus be a greater share in proportion to commercial an ndustrial properties.

--Freezing tax rates, as was done in 1972 th SB90, has done no good because the rampant in ion has provided local government with all the oney it needs at the same or even lower rates.

--Freezing assessments while the owner s in a home and changing only when a home is sol ould, over a period of years, create huge inequitie here a home which has sold two or three times w d be assessed at a much higher rate than the unsol ome next door.

--The "split roll," assessing homes at a lowe ate than other properties, would raise values on h es and lower them on business properties, encour g migration of people into the state while busines d industry would leave.

Refund bid fails, precedent feared

PLEASANTON — Jerry Aldrich's bid to get a refund of his sewer connection fee failed on a 3-2 city council vote Monday night.

Aldrich's home burned partially, he demolished it and replaced it with another house. He was required to pay for a new sewer hookup and he appealed that last year and lost a split council vote.

The city ordinance requiring property owners in such cases to pay the fee was reversed this year after the new city council convened. Since the change had been effected in the ordinance, Aldrich thought he could get his money back. He told the council he would donate the refund to the Salvation Army.

Councilmen Frank Brandes and Ken Mercer voted for the refund. Brandes said it was a chance "to correct something I thought was an injustice."

Mayor Robert Philcox said he supported Aldrich last year, but the issue has "gone too far down the road" to be changed. He thought it might establish a precedent for refunds and did not know how far back the city would have to go to research other cases which also could deserve refunds.

"It's a a bad precedent to change the ordinance, then go back and make adjustments," said Philcox. Brandes said he agreed, but felt Aldrich's case was an isolated incident. Councilman William Herlihy said he agreed with Philcox, noting he, too, supported Aldrich last year, but a dangerous precedent could be set by making the ordinance change retroactive. He also had a problem with "taxpayers' money going to the Salvation Army."

Get your wallet, sweater

Your fuel bills can skyrocket this year due to the combination of low winter temperatures, longer hours of darkness and rising costs of gas and electricity.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company explains costs are rising since fuel oil prices for power plants have increased six-fold in five years.

Canada's natural gas price boost causes part of the problem. That country provides almost one-half of PG&E's supply of that resource.

Other supplies and business needs keep going up in price.

Weather temperatures and hours of darkness are factors to be considered regarding bills. More energy is used when weather turns cold and the sun sinks early.

Turning down the thermostat and insulating ceilings can help you conserve heat.

PG&E suggests you wear a sweater or other warm garment after lowering the temperature.

They consider 68 degrees a logical thermostat setting. Their contention is you'll be using 15 to 20 per cent less energy at that setting than at 72 degrees.

If you are a do - it - yourselfer and want to tackle insulating your own ceiling, PG&E recommends reading "Insulate. Save Energy." It may be had by writing Electric and Gas Industries Association, 1355 Market St., San Francisco, Ca. 94103 or asking at any local PG&E office.

Other energy-saving steps are: "Use lower - wattage lightbulbs except in reading lamps. Turn off lights you're not using, even if you expect to use them again soon.

Weatherstrip around doors and windows.

Check furnace filters and clean or replace them when they're clogged.

Turn off heat to unused rooms.

When replacing major appliances, consider pilotless furnaces, gas ranges and energy conserving models of refrigerators and water heaters."

Using the warmth of the sun can help hold down heating costs. Open drapes when it's shining, close them when it isn't."

More alien arrests

PLEASANTON — Border Patrol agents headquartered here arrested 4,350 illegal aliens last month, according to Chief Patrol Agent Herbert E. Walsh.

Headquarters for the 49 - county Livermore Sector are at Camp Parks, Pleasanton.

Arrests were up from last November but down by 510 from October, which marked the end of the harvest season. Of the total arrested, three - quarters were working, most of them earning $2.50 to $4.49 an hour.

Joyful Plant

Carl Linnaeus named the pitcherplant "nepenthe" which in Greek means "a freeing from or oblivion from grief." He chose that name because he felt it was such an unusual plant that any botanist seeing it for the first time would at once forget all his past troubles and be filled with joy.

Tax relief

There is that tv commercial which asks — "How do YOU spell relief?" If the question refers to taxes, the answer may be well beyond the healing power of Rolaids.

Or beyond any known branch of government, for that matter. Assemblyman Floyd Mori, in his latest report to the people, notes carefully that "Property taxes are assessed by local governments, and the state does not assess nor spend property taxes." His argument continues in that "Who ME?" vein.

But in a Sacramento hearing room this week, where the subject of "property tax relief" was very much in focus, it was made clear that "The state, not the counties, must provide residential property tax relief."

That argument, put forward by a county spokesman, naturally, notes that "When counties lower tax rates, the bulk of the relief goes not to home owners but to business interests which pay 75 percent of total property taxes."

To gain "selective relief" for just the home owning taxpayer, the state must act, say the county spervisors. And this could only come by drastic state cutback "in those people programs" which prompt legislators to pass laws, forcing counties to spend more money, and thereby requiring across - the - board hikes in county tax rates. (And also having considerable impact on state - controlled assessment practices, we suspect.)

It is all part of the great - buck - passing game, and which too often winds up with the taxpayer at square one. As observed before in this space, it doesn't really matter what they do with the "tax shuffle;" as long as they go on spending, somebody has to pay. Now guess who?

Right now we're inclined to go along with the County Supervisors Association argument ... "if meaningful property tax relief is to come it must start with a curb on Sacramento's spending." Assemblyman Mori knows that; every legislator knows that; even the governor understands it.

So what are we waiting for?

Earl Waters

Cut spending

While it appears certain the 1977-78 Legislature is serious about effecting tax relief for homeowners, their remedies will treat the symptoms rather than eradicate the disease unless they act to bridle spending.

For that is the virus that has brought about the spiralling costs of government to the point of exorbitance.

Lawmakers and even the governor bustled about last week readying property tax reform proposals of all sorts. Their concern evidences the growing revolt of the voters to property taxes which have become oppressive. The governor and the legislators are fully aware that unless meaningful action is now taken property taxes will be the key issue in the 1978 elections.

Assuring that this will be so is the property tax initiative being processed by Los Angeles County tax Assessor Phil Watson and the threat by others, including San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson, to also offer initiatives.

But whatever plans are advanced they can only be shifts of taxes, regardless of what they are called, unless the way is found to curtail spending. And the attention should be centered on local government where, in eight years, property tax revenues have increased by $5 billion despite the huge increases in outside revenues from federal and state government. The state alone has upped its budget $1.4 billion this year for allocations to the locals just in property tax exemption reimbursements.

Since the authority for local governments stem from the extension of the state's power, it is within the jurisdiction of the Legislature to place limitations on both the taxation ad spending by local government. This includes the school and special districts as well as the cities and counties.

There is one sure and simple way to put a handle on spending. Place a ceiling on the salaries of top officials at all levels.

For the plain fact is that government payrolls are the root of all the taxation problems. For most governmental entities the payroll constitutes 85 per cent of the total budget.

While that percentage would probably be true regardless of the propriety of the salaries paid, it puts the finger squarely where the reductions in spending must be made.

There is no question that most agencies could reduce staff with no preceptible diminishing of essential services. Unfortunately, when pressed because of budget limitations, administrators most often make cuts which have the greatest public visibility rather than where they hurt the least or not at all. It is their way of keeping the pressure of the public for more taxes. And that problem is not easily solved.

But the ther aspect of payrolls, the excessive salaries, can be readily remedied. All the Legislature needs to do is decree that no top public official at any level will be paid more than his counterpart at the state level.

The week in retrospect

Schools' turmoil

If you think the valley education scene has been tense or volatile the past few months, just take a peek at what could occur in the next couple of months or so.

First, but not necessarily foremost, the San Ramon Valley Unified School District just determined what teachers unit will be the exclusive bargaining agent— the California Teachers Association - affiliate SRVEA group.

That means San Ramon is four to five months behind other valley school districts in negotiating a 1976-77 contract. One might also conclude that, since there is a large American Federation of Teachers chapter in the district, the bargaining stance of the teacher negotiating team might be somewhat more aggressive than that of units in neighboring districts.

Only time will tell.

In the Murray district, where a 1976-77 pact has been settled, board members will be meeting in closed session Monday night to determine, among other items we believe, Superintendent Donald Williams contract.

It is no secret that at least one trustee, some parents and teachers in the district are not happy with Williams' performance.

There are reportedly two trustees who might consider terminating Williams' contract at the end of this school year. Such action could be determined Monday night.

The Amador and Pleasanton "waters" are anything but placid.

And here, too, it is a shame. For, as we have written in these columns before, the children are the ultimate losers.

The problems in the latter two districts revolve around mediation of contract differences.

It appears at this point like neither district will come to agreement on contract terms before the end of the year.

This is not the merriest of Christmases in either the central district offices or at the individual schools.

Pleasanton teachers say morale is low and allege lack of leadership at the district level.

Amador teacher representatives are angry over alleged falsification of signature on certain evaluation forms, decry certain closed-door tactics of the board and share a concern (with Pleasanton teachers) over the key issue of binding arbitration of grievances.

CTA legal assistance has been brought into the picture.

Teacher unit leaders are holding press conferences and school administrators are doing their best (we believe) to keep everything on an even keel.

Maybe the whole problem rests in interpretation of "rules of the game."

Before concluding, we must note, a regards the Murray district and Superintendent Williams, that an editorial appearing Friday was incorrect in part. Williams' contract HAS NOT been renewed. He recently received a cost of living increase but a decision on his contract by trustees will be made by Wednesday.

To complete the previous thought, then, maybe both sides should go back to the ground rules, review them and then get back to the mediation room so these sessions don't drag on until spring.

Letters to the Times

Sports coverage

Dave Weber, Sport Editor,
The Times:

This is just a note to express my concern over the lack of pre-tournament publicity given the 1976 Amador Basketball Classic by the Times this year. In my twelve year association with the Classic, I have never seen any valley newspaper, with the exception of the Independent, give so little to what has to be one of the major prep athletic events hoasted by a valley school annually. I have seen just one column, follow up to our pre-tournament dinner, that mentioned the Classic. No other columns or news articles have been evident. On the behalf of the high school and the Pleasanton Jaycee's, we must express our disapointment.

It is ironic that today, the first day of the fifteenth year of the Classic, the Times ran a news article on the Cable Car Classic hoasted by USF. In the same sports section, nothing is saidof our own tournament. We feel that you can do better.

Prop U again

Editor, The Times:
An open letter to LAVWMA;

The newspapers have amply reported your intense disappointment with the defeat of measure U. ... to return the identical measure to the ballot five months later would be an expression of contempt for the judgement of the voting public ...

... I would like to point out some of the slippery language used in the comments submitted with the election materials ...

1) We were told the measure could reduce air pollution. It could just as well have the opposite effect ...

2) We were told the measure would not subsidize new growth, since the new people would pay connection fees and service charges. This dodges the issue since it doesn't mention that those already here would also pay higher service charges than before.

According to an article in the Pleasanton Times the average monthly increase would be $3.33. If I am paying out more money for no increase in service to me, then I am indeed paying a subsidy.

Some Pleasanton city council members ... have suggested a guarantee on the ballot which would insure the extra capacity for industrial development would not be diverted to residences. City attorney Ken Scheidig is reported as opposed saying it would limit chances of selling the bonds. This is actually a confession that just such a diversion could in fact occur.

3) We were told that "Geldertown" is not in the boundaries of the project. Where is any guarantee they would stay out of it? ...

Livermore is said to want the extra capacity for industry. They can't even keep the industry they already have because of present taxes ...

If the pipeline solution is to be pursued further, I think splitting the issue into two measures, one for a basic pipeline and the other for extra capacity is a good idea.

round the town

Chances are, you're going to be on this earth for a mite longer than you had figured. Question is, are you prepared for the added stretch?

Peter Vajk is the latest smart - aleck to prolong our term in this vale of tears. Pete wrote a book. a About the future - this - and - that. Told our reporter his findings ... "Figure people will live to the ripe old age of 800, and more."

Very exciting, yes? Never having known anyone who even approaches that 800 mark, I am unable to offer any conclusive commentary. I am, however, well acquainted with a gent who has survived about one - sixteenth of that 800 - year span. I figure if the aches and pains accumulated in the first 50 years are to be multiplied by 16 or so, then forget it!

"Your back is doing as well as we *can*expect," Doctor Spinal says, with just a touch of smile. "We can't be healthy youngsters again, now can we?" It's his way of telling the patient — You're on the downhill slide of life, fella, and there's plenty of bumps built into that final run.

Dr. Spinal is maybe six foot three, 190 pounds of muscle. Has all his own hair, his teeth, that sort of thing. Now HE looks like he might have a crack at that 800 year span. Given a little luck, and a steady clientele.

Frankly, I don't think he's laying any heavy bread on my chances for making the first century mark. No matter what Peter Vajk says, in his book about the long tomorrow.

While back, some scientist type said he's discovered a potient that will add 20, 40 years onto our life. He makes no guarantee as to what condition thee and me will be during that extra 40.

"Everything hurts, these days, even some parts I never knew I had before." Acquaintance of mine made that disclosure just the other day. On the golf course. He's on the high side of 65. Has had three major operations. He was telling us about all of them.

Then he stepped up to the tee and hit the ball 200 yards, plus.

Grant me, sound of body and of mind, to pass an old age lacking neither honor nor the lyre.

Quintus Horatius Flaccus said that. About 2010 years ago. There is no evidence that Quint is still around, or that he ever got that lyre. His words live on, and that's about it.

"The back is a funny thing," Dr. Spinal is telling me. I see nothing funny about it, but at these prices, who wants to take time arguing with a specialist?

He has this little model. Shows how the vertebrae are connected, to do this and that. Thing is made of plastic, I suspect. Guaranteed to outlast the real thing.

"You have all these nerves trying to fit through this hole, right here," Dr.S. says, trying to poke his pencil throught that opening in the plastic model. With every poke my own nervous system jumps a little. I wish he'd knock it off.

Seems like most parts of the body are god for 30, maybe 40 years. Then they start showing a little wear, a muscle stretches here, a bone erodes there. Whole blesssed system acts like the American television set. Good for eight, ten years. Then forget it.

"It's this plastic piece in back here," Dr. T.V. Repair says, very seriously. "It's just a little thing, but , without it the remote control system can't function." The little plastic piece is starting to go. Can't be replaced. Factory doesn't make 'em anymore.

When the plastic piece finally goes, scrap the whole blessed set. Talk to your friendly loan company about the chances of going into hock for another six hundred big ones.

"How long you expect to take paying off this loan?" asks Dr. H.I. Interest. He's sizing you up, wondering about your chances of living through the life of this contract.

Chances are, new tv and borrower will both be gone before the loan is paid off. But not if borrower is to live to a ripe old 800. Let's see ... that figures out to another 94 tv purchases, at 600 bucks per. Nine percent interest, compounded.

I'm not looking forward to it. Not unless the quality of tv programming improves one heckuva lot.

Naked came I out of my mother's womb,
and naked shall I return thither ..."

Naked, and in debt. Longer I live, worse off I am on both counts. Before science .. figures out a way to keep us around for a few hundred years, somebody had best invent some better parts.

Teachers have their say on contract talks

Trustee challenged

Editor, The Times:

... in response to Wally Decker's statement, "If we (the Amador Valley Joint Union High School District) change the salary schedule by 3.6 per cent, with movement across the schedule, it means the compensation to teachers is equal to 7.6 per cent ... "

It is tremendously discouraging to find that movement across the schedule is to be included in determining wheher I receive a cost-of-living salary adjustment. Historically, the district has offered horizonta movement as incentive, encouraging teachers to seek professional improvement opportunities by offering increased salary as a reward. Such "movement" is accomplished only through earning block of 15 semester units of graduate credit in fields directly related to one's effectiveness in the classroom ... This training requires a minimum of 225 hours of graduate work In Addition To the times ... to prepare for the classes we teach.

This district and the people who support its position in this regard evidently consider an additional year's experience, plus a "raise" and the professional improvement credits worth very little. My efforts to take advantage of the incentive opportunity will not be rewarded. The additional time, effort, and expense will serve only to maintain my past buying power rather than improve it. I am not content to accept the premise that teaching in this district will offer little encouragement for professional improvement and no opportunity for financial growth.

Although I consider salary adjustment a secondary issue in contract negotiations, this particular issue is typical of many causing dissatisfaction among teachers. The attitude of this community is reflected through Board action. It appears, then, that this community in general has little interest in offering its teachers incentive to improve and, more importantly, in offering them enough support to encourage them to remain in the teaching profession.

Need self respect

Editor, The Times:

I care about my students a great deal — they're very important to me. I want to do the best possible job in their behalf. In addition to the important basic skills in math and reading, I teach independent and conscientious self - responsibility. I want them to grow into feeling, thinking individuals with a sense of solid self-respect. Such individuals strive to realize their greatest potential — an important goal or so our School Board Policy states (Educational philosophy and goals) — "Assure all students the equal opportunity to realize their greatest potential." ...

Is this also possible for the Livermore teachers — to be able to be self-respecting, thinking individuals working to their greatest potential? The School Board doesn't seem to think so. ... Parents usually are willing to let go of their children at 18 years or so — aren't our teachers a little old to have to be told what to do? There seems to be little cnviction by the school board and district administrators that teachers are responsible, thinking adults who can make conscientious decisions on their own.

Livermore teachers need a contract that allows give and take from both sides. Binding arbitration of grievances allows this to happen. An impartial arbitrator helps settle the disagreement without the high court costs ... The school board sees it as a threat to "local control" when in fact most mediators settle in favor of the school board. Now why would teachers want that? Because they want space — to be thinking individuals who are open to change. ...

Livermore teachers need a contract because they care about doing a good job with their students. We need to be given the opportunity to do so. We need support — from the community. Can you help us?

Teacher replies

Editor, The Times:

I have taught in the Livermore School District for nearly twenty years. I could probably be called a "conservative" teacher. I enjoy my work, and have had good relationships over the years with students, parents, and Administration. ...

In answer to "Name withheld upon request": Perhaps you put in an "8 to 3 day". However, the great percentage of teachers I have seen in the past years go home with an armful of papers, to be done during the evening hours. In addition, many teachers work after school to meet with students, parents, and also to serve on District Committees. ... In your letter, "Name Withheld", I feel you have categorized yourself as a "poor" teacher. I regret that you are in my profession. ...

You speak of a short work year. I would ask that you check the amount of time that good teachers in this district spend in graduate clases (at their own expense, on their own time), in order to bring new ideas and better teaching practices to their classrooms. ...

... this year I returned in the fall to find that my Personal Leave ... had been arbitrarily removed ... We were told the District was "poor", yet now I read that they could afford an $1,800, retroactive raise for the Superintendent, putting him ... $4000 per year above the California State Superintendent of Public Instruction. ...

This year, for the first time, I am feeling "militant" ... the School Board no longer feels any appreciation for the job on which I have spent twenty years — but I still feel a pride in my profession ...

If the Board of Education and the teachers cannot talk as reasonable people ... it is time that we talk in other terms.

A recent editorial in a local paper left the impression that because teachers are spending time trying to negotiate a fair and equitable contract, they are neglecting their classrooms. I can assure the parents of Livermore that this is not the case ...

Lighter Times

Those who have known me for some time know that I like to use my imagination to solve the social problems of the day. Recall, for example, my solution to end smog in the valley, or at least reduce it greatly.

The plan was to build up the Pleasanton Ridge to 20,000 feet. This would block the smog from Hayward and Oakland, giving us relatively clean air. It also would give us a snowcapped peak where we could open ski resorts, boosting the town's economy.

The mountain could be shaped like Mt. Fuji, and we could put our own little monastery about half way up the mountain, staffed by monks from Community Presbyterian Church.

And there was my plan on eliminating the rest of the valley smog while giving us an amusement park at the same time. That was the famous Six Gondolas Over the Valley. We would eliminate our interstate highways and replace them with canals. Motorists would abandon their cars and travel across the valley in colorful ethnic (Italian) gondolas. Very picturesque and it would contribute even more to our tourist image.

And now perhaps the greatest plan of all. In it, I solve the valle's sewer woes and help solve a traffic problem. All we need to do is get federal funding from the Department of Transportation to build one, long median strip from Livermore through Pleasanton and Dublin along the major thoroughfares. The inside of this median divider strip — eight feet tall, by the way — would be hollow. That's where we put the sewage effluent. So who needs Measure U?

Dr. Lamb

No guarantees to good health

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like to know if it is safe to marry a man who has had a stroke. I have known this man for five years. He had his stroke about the time I met him.

He is not a bad-tempered man. He is most kind, doing things for me and taking me places. At times he has an unfair outlook on life. He thinks everyone should baby him. His family does. I can't see this as I think it unfair. He is a strong man. His stroke left him with part of his throat uncontrolled, and this affects his speech. He has a bad temper when this happens.

Please let me know what to do as he gets irritated when he has speech problems. His stroke didn't leave him disabled in any other way that can be seen. He is in his 70s.

DEAR READER — From a health point of view it is never safe to get married. You could marry the most healthy looking person in the world and something could happen — such as the onset of severe psychiatric illness or the occurance of a cancer or a tragic accident leaving a mate paralyzed from the neck down.

You have to decide if you want to have a life contract to help each other no matter what, and you never know the WHAT until it happens. If you love someone you will want to help them during his or her difficulties whether they are emotional, physical or financial.

The practical side of a marriage contract says that you should know what the other person's health problems are, before you decide if you want to take on that responsibility. When a person is in the 70s there is the ever present danger of a sudden health problem. That is true whether or not a stroke has occured.

Personalities change with age — which may be for better or worse. Such changes occur in younger people too but are less apt to become a problem. I think when anyone marries an older person it is important to ask yourself if you are willing to take care of this person if he becomes disabled.

The answer to your question may also relate to your own health. How old are you? What do you want out of a marriage? Are you in the age group that you may have an increased risk of health problems? Are you concerned about whether or not he will be able to look after you if your health takes a turn for the worse? It is not a one-sided question that you pose.

Certainly health problems should be discussed before marriage, because of the impact they may have on both persons' lives. There should be no surprises. Honesty about health is essential, and both individuals should have a physical examination before a marriage. I think this also includes young people. Then the decision can be based on facts, and plans for the future can be realistic.

I haven't answered your question because you have not really told me what you want out of a marriage or what you are bringing to the marriage. All I can do is suggest that you discuss the problem and that both of you know what each other's health status really is. Then the final decision has to be up to the two of you. But don't just ignore the health matter. Clear the air before the ceremony rather than regret it afterward.

You need more information about strokes so I am sending you The Health Letter number 2-5 on this subject. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped self-addressed envelope for it. Just send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Q. "WHY DO FARMS HAVE SILOS?"
SCOTT OWEN PITTSBURGH, PA
A. A SILO IS A LARGE STORAGE BIN WHERE CHOPPED GREEN PLANTS ARE PRESERVED FOR WINTER FEED FOR LIVESTOCK.
© 1976 by NEA, Inc. T.M. Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.
DICK Rogers
12/13

On most farms, next to the barn stands a silo, a tall, round building made of wood, brick, concrete, or steel. Here green corn, alfalfa, sorghum and other grasses are preserved as winter feed for the livestock.

To make silage, as this stored fodder is called, the crop is cut while it is still green. The silage is usually cut into short pieces and blown through a pipe leading into the top of the silo, often 30 or more feet high.

Feed does not spoil in a silo, because air cannot get to the tightly packed silage. Molds that cause decay cannot live without air.

Silos are built round to eliminate square corners where air, which would cause spoilage, might be trapped.

Inside, the moist silage turns mildly sour. This change, called fermentation, also helps prevent rotting by preventing the growth of decay molds.

Not all silos are round towers. Sometimes a silo is simply a large hole in the ground.

For Sunday, Dec. 12, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Obligations you fail to fulfill early in the day are apt to cut into your pleasure period. Do what's expected at the time it's expected.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Being with persons who think young will provide the most fun for you today. Avoid stodgy types.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Try to orient today's activities around things the whole family can participate in. You'll be more comfortable with your own kin.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A slight change of scene will do you a world of good today. Nothing planned? Just hop in the car and go someplace different.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Though you won't look upon today as a business day, something profitable might occur to direct your thoughts along commercial lines.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're more of an organizer and leader today than a follower. Drum up something interesting to do with friends.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) From time to time you require periods to be off somewhere alone to think your own thoughts. This is one of those days.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The buzz of the crowd will serve as a tonic today. If you're invited to a social gathering, by all means go.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You have an aptness today for taking advantage of small things others overlook. This is why you'll be a winner.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're rather far-seeing today. Plans or ideas you conceive will be well worth pursuing. Follow up on them tomorrow.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Joint ventures are your most promising area today. Tie up with someone who can do some good for you and for whom you can do some good.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You make a marvelous mediator today. You're not likely to treat anyone with partiality.

Your Birthday

Dec. 12, 1976

New ambitions will be awakened in you this year. You'll strive for things you never dared attempt before. Of more importance, your chances for success look very good.

Opening lead — K ♠

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Jim: "South lets West hold the first trick with the king of spades. This simple duck play insures his contract since West is now helpless. If West continues spades, South will have two spade tricks. If West shifts to another suit as he probably will, South has only one spade trick but he will have time to knock out the ace of diamonds and to collect four diamond tricks in addition to the ace of spades and the aces and kings of hearts and clubs."

Oswald: "This simple duck play has a name. It is called the Bath coup because back in the days of whist someone playing in the seaside resort of Bath in England first thought of it."

Jim: "I imagine it was a very effective play in whist when there was no bidding and no dummy. It still can be a most effective play in contract."

Oswald: "Yes, indeed. In two ways. The first way is that declarer gains a trick when the suit is continued. The second is that there are times when declarer simply ducks with the ace but without the jack. There is always a chance that he will think you have the jack and shift to another suit.

Ask the Jacobys

An Oregon reader wants to know the correct opening bid as declarer when you hold: ♠ A K Q J x x ♥ A x x ♦ x x x ♣ x.

The correct opening bid in all standard type systems is one spade. There is no reason to open anything else and a pass is ridiculous.

Danny Kaye Keeps Childhood Alive

NEW YORK (AP) — Danny Kaye insisted he was no child at heart at the age of 63. Not one bit.

"I left my childhood behind 100 years ago," he said. Then he jammed a thumb into his mouth and added with a pregnant pause:

"Arthur J. Malcolm once said that to be a child at heart is to be stupid." And just who is Arthur J. Malcolm?

Silence, and that inevitable twinkle in his eye.

Don't look for that twinkle on NBC Sunday night, however, when Kaye plays a mean old Captain Hook in "Peter Pan."

The "Hallmark Hall of Fame" presents this brand new version of the classic tale in whioh Mary Martin and Cyril Ritchard starred on TV a generation ago. The occasion of its broadcast is Hallmark's 25th anniversary on NBC Sunday night at 7:30 p.m. on Channels 3 and 4.

Mia Farrow plays the title role, John Gielgud is the narrator and Julie Andrews sings "Once Upon a Bedtime" off camera in a production with 14 new songs by Anthony Newley and Leslie Bricusse.

On his way to Europe for yet another journey on behalf of the United Nations Children's Fund, Kaye allowed that he liked the old production just fine. It reminded him, he said, of crystal radios.

"It looked absolutely primitive," Kaye recalled. "It was TV in its infancy, and they shot it like a stage play."

Wearing a houndstooth sport jacket, dark trousers and white socks, Kaye was alternately outrageous and impish — as always.

No prude in private, he said he nonetheless demands only those roles that might be classed as good clean entertainment.

"This is a standard of mine that is not inflicted on me either by my profession or by my colleagues," he said, waxing serious for a rare moment. "It is a standard I set myself."

He insisted, however, that he would not impose his standards on anyone else. Nor should anyone, he said. His advice was that individuals who don't like dirty movies or violent TV programs should make a pocketbook protest and simply shouldn't watch them.

The late actress Judith Lowry , as 86 - year - old Mother Dexter, takes 92 - year - old Burt Mustin, playing Arthur Lanson, in marriage in the second of a two - part "Phyllis," episode Monday night at 8:30 p.m. on Channels 5 and 10.

Ferreira wins Marathon in 2nd try

Proving that the second time was indeed a charm Adam Ferreira of North Highlands (Sacramento County) won the third annual addition of the Livermore Marathon yesterday afternoon. at the Lawerence Radiation Laboratory.

Ferreira 23, toured the 26-mile-385-yard course in two hours, twenty six minutes and thirty one seconds exactly two full seconds ahead of runner-up Bob Cooper

"I ran in this marathon two years ago and finished se second," a tired but happy Ferreira said after the race was over. "This time I felt really good. The weather was just right for me."

Ferreira, who started running in the Air Force while stationed in North Highlands, said he took the lead at the 23-mile mark and poured it on from there.

"I just decided to get it on after I took the lead," he confessed. "I wanted to make sure the other guys wouldn't put on a kick and pass me so I just gave it all I had."

Cooper and third-place finisher Jan Sershen traded the lead for most of the race before Ferreira took over.

Cooper, who runs for the Redwood Strders, said he led part of the time.

"I was ahead for part of the race," the former Sacramento State runner said. "But this was one of my better races."

The top local finisher in the competition was Brian Bonner of Livermore. Bonner, an who works at the Laboratory, finished seventh in 2:34.42.

"I really feel good about this race," he commented. "I didn't run in high school or college. Actually I took up running a few years ago when I thought I was putting on too much weight. I weighed 132 pounds then and now I weigh around 120.

"It was a good course," he went on. "And the weather was just about right."

The top woman finisher was Vicky Bray, who placed 37th in 2:53.14. There were over 350 participants in the main marathon.

About 175 runners competed in an extra "half marathon" event.

Jon Higlbey won the race (which covered about 11.5 miles) in 1:5.44. Pat Walton, a tall, lanky senior at Blackford High School in San Jose, finished second in 1:8.16.

"I'd like to try the full marathon in about six months," Walton said. "I'm going to try and work up to it by then."

Walton, who has a best of 4:35 in the mile, finished 12th in the West Valley League finals last spring in the four-lap event.

Tom Cathcart, track and cross-country coach at Dublin High School, took fifth in the half marathon and Granada High School star Jeff Cowling finished fourth. Cowling ran a 1:10.3 and Cathcart a 1:11.35. Dublin's Robin Moss finished 11th in the race with an 1:13.3 clocking.

"It was a good course, nice and flat," admitted Cathcart. "With this type of course a runner can go for his best time and that's really what te marathon is all about. There can be only one winner."

The youngest competitor was seven-year old Robin Moss of Mountain View, who ran in the half-marathon.

"I train with my mother," he said. "Our whole family exercises. My father rides a bike a lot."

Actually, everyone had his (or her) day yesterday . Most of the runners were just glad to finish the race and record a good time.

But no one had more reason to be happy than Ferreira who finally reach the top.

Falcon rally tops Arroyo

Foothill High School ran off 17 straight points during a span covering the second and third quarters to post a 70 - 58 win over Arroyo last night in the Pleasanton Jaycees Amador Valley Basketball Classic at Amador High in Pleasanton.

The victory gave the Falcons seventh place in the tournament.

In the consolation title game, Robby Beal scored a tournament record 36 points while Bishop O'Dowd racked up a record 93 points in rolling over Sacred Heart, 93-65.

Guy Williams added 22 points for O'Dowd.

Stagg High of Stockton met undefeated Northgate of Concord, while Amador meets Washington of Fremont in the third place battle.

The Falcons, severly badly battered in their first two tournament games against Washington and Bishop O'Dowd, started off with the same pattern against Arroyo last night.

Foothill could connect on just two of 13 field goal attemots in the first quarter, both of them from Phil Moore, as the Dons jumoed out t" a 13 - 6 lead. Moore also had two free throws for the Falcons, but ironicallY did not score the rest of the game.

After the Dons increased their lead to 17 - 6 at the begining of the second quarter, Foothill awoke from its daydreams and started playing the Dons' game, taking a better selection of shots.

With the score 28 - 21 with 42 seconds left to go in the second quarter, Rich Rosenbach messed two free throws and a jumper, while Steve Sperber sank a 12 - foot jump shot at the buzzer to pull the Falcons to within one, 28 - 27, at halftime.

Arroyo, dazed by the late comeback by Foothill, dozed off in the second half and the Falcons were quick to take advantage of it.

Chas Dean's lay - in just four seconds into the half made it 29 - 28, the first time the Falcons led in the game. Robert MacDonald then hit on three jumpers and Steve Sperber curled an inside shot to give the Falcons a 38 - 28 lead.

The Falcons held Arroyo without a field goal until John Kitchulk hit a basketball with 2:26 to go. Earlier, Doug Gamblin's two technical free throws at the 3:40 mark was the only scoring for the Dons.

The Falcons held on to that lead for the rest of the game and Sperber led all scorers with 20 points on 10 of 15 field goal attempts.

In Friday's semi-final action, Amador and Foothill ran into steel walls.

The Dons fell behind early and went on to drop a 70-51 game to Stagg High of Stockton, while the Falcons were obliterated by hot - shooting Bishop O'Dowd, 69-32.

. Four Dons hit doublefigures in their loss, but the Delta Kings could do no wrong in taking a 40 - 24 halftime lead. Stagg's biggest lead came at the end of the third quarter, holding a more than adequate 56 - 34lead.

Mike Hansen and Chris Kearns scored ten while Rick Howard netted 11 and Don Hall 12 for the Dons, whose only other player scoring was Sam Jorgensen with six points. Jorgensen, though, fouled out of the game early.

The Dons played Washington High last night for third place in the tournament.

Foothill's Sperber scored 16 points to highlight a terrible night for the Falcons, who fell behind 34 - 11 at the half and never rebounded.

Friday's winners' bracket contest between Northgate and Washington went into overtime before the Broncos pulled out a 59 - 57 win over the ball - control Huskies.

Washington, coached by former Livermore High freshmen basketball mentor Rich Botehlo, held a 31 - 27 halftime lead but frittered it away in the final half on some clutch North gate shooting.

The Broncos scored two quick buckets in overtime to hang on for the win.

In Friday losers' bracket acion, Sacred Heart walloped Arroyo, 68-45.

Mistake hurts Pokes

YUBA CITY — A crucial turnover after a jump ball cost Livermore High School a 66-65 defeat at the hands of Liberty High in in the consolation finals of the Yuba City Basketball Invitational here last night.

Liberty outscored the Pokes 18-16 in the final quarter to earn the victory.

Mark McCreary led the losers with 28 points.

The Cowboys had better luck Friday night, topping host Yuba City 52-44. McCreary again paced the winners with 14 points and Tim Jenkins added 10 on five field goals.

Ali's retirement off

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — The on-again, off-again retirement of world heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali is off again, the champ says.

Ali, in town Friday to shoot scenes for a movie on his life, said flatly that he's not retiring and that he'll never tell anyone again that's he's quitting.

"When I retire, I will just retire," Ali said in an interview. "I could tell you I was gonna retire, so I will just be quiet."

Ali conceded that earlier in the week he told another interviewer he was stepping down and that he'd never fight again. But since then he's changed his mind.

"I'm not quitting," he said. "One reason is my wife is suing me, and the settlement with my wife is for $2 million and more.

"Two million dollars cash is a lot of money," he said. "I've got to pay her two million cash dollars. If I didn't have that I could forget about fighting."

Since his latest retirement announcement, Ali said, he has learned of the settlement terms with his wife and "certain things I cannot disclose."

Ali first announced his retirement in Turkey three days after beating Ken Norton in Yankee Stadium Sept. 28. Last Monday, he spoke by telephone to a news conference at Madison Square Garden and said "I'm through with boxing.

New York State Athletic Chairman James A. Farley was at the news conference, and Ali said, "I want to announce to the commissioner that he can take my name off the list."

But Friday, Ali almost apologized for those statements.

Tennis captain criticized

HOUSTON (AP) — Little Harold Solomon, a disillusioned Davis Cup discard, described team captain Tony Trabert Saturday as "a cold and indifferent person who is doing a bad job."

"He doesn't communicate," said the 130-pound scrambler from Silver Spring, Md., a beaten semi-finalist in the Grand Prix Masters tennis tournament here. "I found all the guys restless and disorganized. I told Tony so."

Solomon will be elsewhere — univited — when the U.S. Davis Cup Team plays Mexico in Tuscon, Ariz., starting next Friday. The Mexicans, with Raul Ramirez as the chief culprit, have knocked the Americans out of the competition two years in a row.

"I was dissapionted when I wasn't picked on the squad this year,"

Finley goes to court

LOS ANGELES — A New Jersey man bought a used car, signed the deal and paid. Shortly afterward, the car virtually fell apart. It was junk.

The man sued the dealer. The latter contended it was a legal sale without guarantees. The case went to the New Jersey Supreme Court, which ruled in favor of the purchaser.

The court held that the contract was one of adhesion — an agreement in which the two parties clearly are on an unequal footing. The only way the man could buy a car was to sign the contract.

This will be one of the legal points raised in the $3.5 - million suit Charles O. Finley, owner of the Oakland A's, has filed against Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and the baseball establishment, a case that goes to federal court in Chicago next week.

Finley is seeking damages for the commissioner's act in voiding a deal in which he sold two of his players — Joe Rudi and Rollie Fingers — to the Boston Red Sox for $1 million each and pitcher Vida Blue to the New York Yankees for $1.5 million.

Subsequently Finley lost Rudi and Fingers plus four other leading players of his former world championship team to the open market, in which they bought an estimated $9.2 million. Finley didn't get a penny.

Finley contends Kuhn has "single - handedly destroyed the Oakland A's franchise." The commissioner's argument is that he did it for the best interests of baseball. In effect it seemed that baseball refused to let him sell his own property and yet let him lose a greater and more valuable portion of it under different circumstances.

The case has turned out to be one of the liveliest topics at the 75th baseball convention, winding down here this weekend. Is wily Charlie O. a cinch to get his pound of flesh from baseball and the commissioner, as some insist? Or will baseball — the apple pie and Kate Smith pastime that even the Supreme Court handles so delicately — prevail again?

It all depends on a few lines of small type on page 505 of the game's Major League Agreement in the Blue Book.

When Finley got into baseball, he had to sign his name — "Charles O. Finley" — on a piece of paper, agreeing "to be bound by the decisions of the commissioner" and "waive such right of recourse to the courts as would otherwise have existed in their favor."

This is largely what some of the best legal minds in the country will be arguing, starting Dec. 15, in the Chicago courtroom.

It's right there in print. Finley is a smart businessman. He even has a law degree. He was wide experience in sports franchises, having dabbled in basketball and hockey. As a sophisticated businessman with a cordon of legal advisors, he certainly didn't go into this argument blindly.

This is the kind of argument that baseball can put forward.

That doesn't mean baseball has the case locked up, either. Remember the New Jersey man and his used car which turned out to be a bomb.

The courts are not predictable. Circumstances often tip the scale.

Like the man with the used car, Finley can argue he was the victim of a "contract of adhesion." Anybody wanting to get into baseball has to sign the Major League Agreement. Thus the courts could hold that part of the game's tenets illegal. The parties are not equal.

Memorial beats Cal

Isaiah Thompson hit for 17 points to lead a fast-breaking Memorial team to a 62-51 win over California High in pre-season basketball play in San Ramon Friday night.

Thompson scored 11 points in the first half, where the Newark school hedl on to a slim 25-22 lead, but it wasn't until the second half that Memorial started playing their game.

Memrial ran off an 8-0 spurt in the first minute and a half of the second half to race out to a 34-22 lead, prompting Grizzly coach Bill Herrera to call a badly-needed time out.

Cal's Chuck Cary iced a free throw to give the Grizzlies' their first point of the half, but Memorial broke out on another 8-2 spree to take a healthy 44-27 lead with less than two minutes to play in the third quarter.

Two buckets by Cary, a pair of Craig Cline free throws, Dan Nelson's inside lay-in and Larry Walters' 17-foot jumper cut the Memorial lead down to 44-37 with 20 seconds to go, as the Grizzlies ran off a 10-0 spree of their own.

In the fourth quarter, Cal reached to within four points at 45-41, but Memorial pieced toge ther a 10-2 spree on Thompson's drive, a 20-foot bomb from Henry Spinks, along with key baskets from David Karren and Wille Rauch, who control controlled the offensive board for Memorial.

The 12-point 55-43 lead held up for the remainder of the contest.

Chuck Cary led all Cal scorers with 16 points, playing for the first time in the center position, and having his best game of the year. The Grizzlies' regular center, Keith Carlson, watched the game from the bench.

Cal was coming off an impressive showing in the Rivergate Basketball Tourney, where they copped the consolation title. Their only defeat came at the hands of eventual tourney champion Ripon Christian School, losing 47-45 in the first game. Cal went on to top Summerville, 67-63, and Hilmar, 79-68.

Cal's next outing will be in the Oakmont Tourney next weekend, while Memorial attempts to make life rough for yet another EBAL team when they take on Foothill in Pleasanton-Tuesday.

Gael girls win, 28-22

OAKLAND — Minus the services of three starters and plagued by foul trouble, Dublin High School advanced to last night's consolation final of the Fremont girls basketball tournament here Friday with a 28-22 win over Miramonte of Orinda.

The Gaels limited the Matadors to two points in the final period to earn the victory.

In Thursday's opening round, the Gaels had fallen to the hostess Tigers, 50-39.

In that one, Dublin fell behind early but rallied with a 16-5 third quarter burst only to have Fremont pull away with a 21-10 fourth period binge.

Cowgirls top Concord

The Livermore Cowgirls outscored the visiting Concord MinuteMs. from the field and at the foul line to cop a 49-40 win in non-league basketball Thursday night in Livermore.

Although Concord's Betty Blum tallied a game-high glut of 25 points, the 'Pokes more balanced attack made the difference.

Healthy Walton tough opponent

NEW YORK — The red ponytail is gone and so is the bandanna. So, too, are the aches and pains, the injuries that dogged Bill Walton through his first two years as a pro.

"I'm healthy now, that's the biggest difference," said Walton, who is playing the way the Portland folks had hoped when they drafted him No. 1 in 1974 out of UCLA.

"It's been a long time since I've felt this good," the softspoken center added. "Winning is a lot nicer than losing."

The Trail Blazers have been winning regularly of late and have taken over first place in the Pacific Division of the National Basketball Association. The biggest reason has been Walton, who has stayed healthy through the first quarter of the season and become a dominant pro center.

The 6-foot-11, 225-pounder is in great shape and is playing nearly 40 minutes a game. He still wears bandages on his knees, and after games he soaks his chronically sore feet in a tray of ice. But to have gone through seven weeks of the season with no injuries is a new experience, one he is enjoying.

"This is the most I've ever played in the NBA in one stretch," Walton said following a 111-94 victory over the New York Knicks Tuesday night in which he contributed 16 points, 15 rebounds and eight blocked shots.

"Consistency, that's the important thing," he said. "I've been able to develop all areas of my game. When you play two weeks and then get hurt and sit out two weeks, you can't do that."

Walton, whose personal new look consists of a relatively trim red beard and only moderately long hair, is very happy with the new look of the Blazers, who dealt away long-time stars Sidney Wicks and Geoff Petrie in the off-season and obtained a host of new faces, including Coach Jack Ramsay.

"This is a very unselfish team, and it is really enjoyable to play that way," said Walton. "I like to run a lot, and with the people we have here we can really run the fast break."

Ramsay has nothing but praise for Walton, who leads the league in rebounding and blocked shots and is Portland's leading scorer at 21.1 points a game.

"Bill has been just super," Ramsay said. "He's a very team-oriented guy. He's been working his tail off to help this team. He has great rapport with his teammates."

Walton, 24, is the captain of the Blazers, a position to which he was voted by the other players.

"It was nice of the guys to elect me captain," he said with a smile, "but this team doesn't really need a captain to get them going. They know what to do, how to win games. But it was nice."

Walton has been prominently associated with radical political causes in the past, but says he prefers to concentrate on basketball during the season.

Dublin cagers edge DN, 57-54

LOOMIS — Dublin High School's bevy of basketball playing footballers paid off here Friday as the Gaels advanced to the consolation championship of the Del Oro tourney with a 57-54 win over Del Norte.

Jeff Barnes scored 13 points while Chuck Gangnuss added 10 and Jim Boulware tossed in the free throw that iced the victory with five seconds to play.

Dublin met fellow EBAL school Monte Vista in the conso final last night.

Dublin was bumped from contention for the championship by a 77-38 loss to Placer Thursday night despite another excellent showing by 6-6 center Marcus Reese.

MSJ press stops Mats

FREMONT — Northgate made the discovery and Friday night, Mission San Jose put it to use, utilizing a press to complement an excellent zone defense to put the squeeze on struggling Granada High School, 52-43, in non-league basketball.

Despite being blocked out well by Mission's trio of big men, 6-7 Joey Wujek scored 13 for Granada while three-sport star Vance Rushing contributed 10.

Behind most of the way, Granada rallied in the final quarter to trim three points from the Warrior lead.

NIKON F2-S PHOTOMIC

It does things even a Nikon couldn't do before. We thought the Nikon F2 was the last word in photographic versatility. But, that was before it became available with the latest interchangeable F2-S Photomic Meter/Finder which adds a whole new dimension to the famous Nikon F2 system. The sensitivity range of the F2-S is just incredible.

Without requiring any booster, it gives you reliable readings in light so dim you'd have to expose for 8 seconds at f1.4 (with ASA 100)! It uses solid-state light emitting diodes (LED's) to indicate exposure accuracy.

The F2-S Photomic is still another example of how Nikon keeps you ahead phtoographically. Come in and see our Nikon specialist for a demonstration. No obligation, of course.

It's madness at the Foothill goal as Falcon goalie Bret Bevilacqua reaches in blind desperation for ball as Billy Hunt (15) of Livermore watches. Cowboys beat Foothill, 3-0. (Times Photo by Steve Atkinson)

Pokes top Foothill, EBAL race tightens

Like a new child getting its first spanking, Foothill's scrappy soccer team fell to its first defeat at the hands of Livermore, 3 - 0, Friday in Livermore.

The rugged 'Pokes increased their East Bay Athletic League record to 3 - 1 and moved into a three - way tie for the top spot with Granada and the Falcons, whose sole possession of the top spot was short - lived but sweet.

Keith Sweet, Foothill's fiery coach, was philosophical after the defeat, the only one of the year for the young Falcons.

"I'm disappointed," he admitted, "but we were just outplayed."

Livermore's usually agressive team played a better structured game against Foothill, to the surprise of Sweet and to the delight of Cowboy coach Dennis Rashe.

"They didn't play as agressive as I thought they would," Sweet remarked. "Their style of play didn't bother me."

"I think we still had the agressiveness," said Rashe, "but we had the ball control today. If you look agressive, but don't have the ball control at the same time, you look pretty raw."

Livermore rattled off 31 shots on goal, compared to Foothill's three, and dominated the midfield from the opening kickoff.

The Falcon problem of controling the midfield was a major concern of Sweet at the beginningof the year, as the Falconswere trying to rebound from last year's 1 - 12 -1 EBAL finish. They corrected the problem with their fast 5 - 0 start, but yesterday the Falcon front - liners were worn down by the fast Cowboys.

"Now we're playing the upper division," Sweet remarked, after pointing out his team played the less - established teams in the EBAL in his last two encounters. Next, we've got Amador, Granada, and Monte Vista."

Rashe, worried about his team's next game with California, said, "I hear they give you a rough game down there." The rookie coach will just have to wait and find out.

In the meantime, his experienced Cowboys are playing soccer at its best, as Billy Hunt, Mike Miller, and Pete Newell all scored goals to lead the win.

Miller's goal came just two minutes into the game, coming from 20 yards out on a straight - ahead angle. The ball sailed into the net over the head of goalie Bret Bevilacqua, who never had a chance at the ball.

Hunt, who along with Charlie Bockover and Cary Dean are the only players left from Livermore's championship team of 1974 - 75, scored his first goal in two years off of an excellent lead pass from Doug Miller. Hunt sliced the ball into the far - left corner of the net for a 2 - 0 Livermore lead 19 minutes into the second half.

At the 27 - minute mark, Pete Newell tapped in a goal after Charlie Bockover set him up with a high, indirect kick. The ball, landing right in front of second-half goalie Dave Konecny, was touched by at least two players before Newell got a piece of skin on the ball and slipped it past Konecny for a 3 - 0 lead.

Granada takes 'flood' match

The sprinkler system drew most of the attention as Granada High School breezed to an easy 4 - 1 win over host California Friday afternoon in an East Bay Athletic League soccer match in San Ramon.

Twice the Grizzlies' water spinklers were accidently set off, delaying play briefly in the second period. The water soaked a few players and fans but did little to stop the Matadors from taking their third victory against one defeat in EBAL action.

California got on the scoreboard first midway through the first period when Bruce Morgan scored on a penalty kick. Granada's Mike Fields was called for holding to set up Morgan's score.

However, the Matadors bounced right back when Jamie scored on an assist from Manzar Iqbal. The Mats came right back when Kevin Burke broke to the right side of the California net took the ball from Shannon Estil and banged it through for the second score.

Granada added two more goals in the second half.

Iqbal and Gary Bannister added the final goals. Manzar scored his goal on an assist from Rodriquez and Jim Lennon had an assist on Bannister's goal.

The Matadors totally dominated the offensive end of the match, collecting 20 shots on goal to just five for the losers. Granada had three corner kicks to one for California.

Matador coach Bill Coupe was pleased that his team won but felt they should have scored more.

"We missed too many opportunites," he lamented after the contest. "We're coming along, through."

Grizzly goalie Mike Daugherty had a busy afternoon in the nets, collecting 17 saves.

Jr, Rose Bowl

Bakersfield romps,

PASADENA, Calif. — Bakersfield College quarterback Steve Denman, passing flawlessly in the first half, threw for three early touchdowns and the Renegades went on to post a 29-14 victory over Ellsworth Saturday in the Junior Rose Bowl.

Denman completed all seven of his throws in the first half, including touchdown strikes of 64 and 30 yards to wide receiver Chris DeFrance, and another 30-yard scofing toss to tightend Brant Tunget.

That Bakersfield air show gave the Renegades a 20-0 lead early in the second quarter of the battle between two of the nation's best junior college teams.

But Ellsworth, of Iowa Falls, Iowa, bounced back to make the contest close before the first half ended, pulling to within 20-14 on a 44-yard scoring run by Maurice Jackson and a 13-yard touchdown pass from Walter Grant to Greg Smith.

Bakersfield's defense, stunned by the two quick touchdowns in the waning moments of the first half, stiffened in the second and got the help of Ellsworth turnovers to shut out the explosive Panthers in the second half.

Scott Dye added a 23-yard field goal for the Renegades in the third quarter. Then Norman Williams provided them with another touchdown on a short run in the final quarter.

Ellsworth had gone into the game with a 9-0 record and a No. 1 ranking in the JC gridwire ratings. Bakersfield, now 10-1-1, was ranked second going into the 22nd edition of the Junior Rose Bowl, which was being played for the first time since 1966.

Denman, 6-foot-2, 196-pound sophomore from Tehachapi, Calif., finihed the afternoon with 12 completions in 17 attempts for 238 yards.

Wolves fall

Dons stay in contention

Amador Valley bounced back into the East Bay Athletic League soccer race with a convicing 4 - 0 shutout of visiting San Ramon in Pleasanton Friday afternoon.

The Dons' powerful frontline mowed over the winless Wolves and the vistors had to play defensive soccer throughout the contest. Amador is now 2 - 2 in EBAL play'

Gregg Oxsen kicked two goals to lead the Amador win. His first came with little time elasped in the contest. Forward John Castillo evaded a Wolf fullback and fired the ball to Oxsen to then booted the ball in on the right side of the San Ramon net.

Kevin Crow got an assist on Oxsens second goal early in the second period. The Wolves drew their halfbacks and fullbacks back to clog the middle. However, that did them little good as the Dons scored twice more in the match.

After Crow and Joe Correia had the ball past Wolf goalie Eric Alstead for an open shot fullback John Barrett of San Ramon picked the ball up and threw it away from the goal. Thus, the Wolves were given a handball penalty and Crow booted in the penalty kick from 12 yards out.

Another San Ramon penalty gave the Dons their final goal. Alstead, who had 23 saves, interfered with Correia near the Wolf net and Amador was given an indirect kick. Castillo took the shot and kicked it right between the Wolf defenders for the final goal.

Amador had 13 cornerkicks to just two for the losers. The Dons had a whopping 40 shots on goal and the Wolves none.

Despite the loss, Jim Meese and Phil Jones did a good job on defense for San Ramon.

The Don junior varsity took an easy 11 - 0 win over San Ramon. Ybarreche scord two goals.

Ruslender leads Enterprises

Richard Ruslender scored 22 points and Steve Eschbach added 16 as Tac Enterprises topped Trinity Baptist, 58 - 4, in Tri - Cities basketball action at Camp Parks last week.

Rick Akel added 10 for the winners while Bery Tully swished 17 for the Baptists.

Mike Vernon scored 16 points to lead Heritage Realty past Valley Christian, 45 - 26. Dave Boyton had 12 points for the losers.

Three players hit double figures for the 76ers, who bested First Bank, 40 - 31. Martin Pane had 12 while Dave Autzen and Ron Cole added 10 each for the winners.

Jim Sherily scored 14 points as Ideal Drayage clipped American Pools, 54 - 53. Tom Bily had 14 points for the losers while Chuck Gilliam and Dennis Rodgers added 10 apiece.

St. Augustine's took a low - scoring battle with Acme Star, 31 - 24, as Doug Harrop tallied eight points. Former Dublin High School center Cliff Johnson had seven for the losers.

In another closy, Joe Panilla's 13 points led Vem's Enterprises to a 45 - 43 triumph over the Sandia Warriors. Jim McClure added 12 points for Vem's while Troy Roberson's 13 was high for Sandia.

Melvin LaGasso chipped in 11 for the losers.

Gaels rout MV

DANVILLE — Dublin High School breezed back to within striking distance of the three East Bay Athletic League co - leaders with a 6 - 0 win over host Monte Vista here Friday afternoon.

Hans Schlicker got the scoring started 16 minutes into the game with a 10 - yard shot that came after he outraced MV goalie Jeff Boles to a centering pass by George Garratt.

Minutes later sophomore Kevin Dick took a pass from Paul Mangini and banged it in from point blank range.

Six minutes before the end of the half, Dick tallied again, this time taking a pass from Garratt. Dave Alvarez ended the first half scoring with an unassisted 20 - yarder.

During the second half, when Dublin coach Eugene Cassvan rested many of his starters, Schlicker scored on a rebound and Paul Mangini scored off an assist from his brother, Pete.

The Gaels had dedicated the game to Jeff Bynum, out with a broken collarbone suffered against Amador Valley Tuesday.

SF games scheduled

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The annual San Francisco Examiner Games have been scheduled for Jan. 21, and the director of the indoor track meet said Saturday he expects to have several Olympic gold medal winners in the field.

MIAMI (AP) — Ron Newman is leaving the Los Angeles Skyhawks of the American Soccer League to return to the North American Soccer League as head coach of the Miami Toros.

The Toros announced the hiring Friday. Newman, 42, coached the NASL Dallas Tornados for seven years before taking over the Skyhawks. He's the only man in professional soccer to win titles in both leagues.

The Toros finished last in their division last season under Greg Myers, who resigned as the Toros ended with a 6-18 record.
